Martin Salomonsson är aktuell med ny singel -Those Rainbows.

Release: 18e augusti på alla digitala plattformar.

Martin Salomonsson (Gbg) är frilansande musiker inom både klassisk och nutida musik. När han inte spelar med Göteborgsbaserade musikensembeln Mimitabu eller frilansar i symfoniorkestrar så lägger han dock allt sitt fokus på popmusiken. Tidigare albumsläpp är Fall och Change the Water.

Those Rainbows är första singelsläppet av Martin Salomonsson under denna tid av restriktioner.

Ett så stort filmiskt sound som möjligt, trots små kvadratmeter var vad som eftersträvades. Med en text om längtan till någonting utanför.

Inspelat i Göteborg,

Co Mix : Kristofer Göransson -Studio Zen Recordings

Background -Those Rainbows:

In a time when we are restricted from moving freely, I tried to find as much movement as possible in the space that I had, allowing small ideas to grow in the confines of a couple of square meters. I wanted to make the music sound big and to show myself that our ideas have no limit. I was longing for something...or someone but all I had were traces around me that reminded me of the locked situation I was in, though I knew other people around me had a much harder time than me -longing for better days to come.

Those Rainbows was recorded basically at home in Gothenburg.

Co mixed by Kristofer Göransson -Studio Zen Recordings-

Mastered by Hans Olsson Brookes -Svenska Grammofonstudion -Gothenburg 200707

English Bio:

Originally from Linköping in Sweden, percussionist and drummer Martin Salomonsson (b 1978) is a heavily sought after Swedish performer, composer, arranger, and teacher. As a singer-songwriter and multi-instrumentalist he released the album 'Fall' in 2013, and Change The Water 2017 under his own name. This year sees the launch of his follow up single -Those Rainbows- 18th of Aug on all platforms. The sound and atmosphere he creates is both dark and light, dreamlike and gives a sense of hopeful longing.

The lyrics touch the subjects of lies, longing, indescribable and lost love, turbulence - everything that touches what it is to be human.

Lyrics:

All those rainbows on the wall makes me cry out your name
Makes me cry out your name

(All traces around me)

All those rainbows on the wall makes me cry out your name
(All traces around me, impressions of you)

All those windows, impressions of you, makes me cry out your name, makes me cry out your name

Allt those rainbows on the wall makes me cry out your name
(All traces around me)
Makes me cry out your name (All traces around me)
All those rainbows on the wall makes me cry out your name

(All traces around me)
(Impressions of you...)
